

LIT. & DEB. DISSOLVED?

Constitution Accepted Awaits Approval by Senate

The integrity of Macdonald College students was challenged on Tuesday, January 31st when they visited the polls and cast their ballots which resulted in a major change in student legislation. Out of 1014 students eligible, 545 or 53.7% voted; and of this number 94.4% were in favour of the proposed amendments. The adoption of this Constitution of the Macdonald College Students' Society has brought about the dissociation of campus organizations such as Lit and Deb and STS from the Council and the introduction of four councillors to it who will represent the main groups — Agriculture, Household Science, Education and Post Graduates. It is expected that these changes will be beneficial to the entire college.

The New Constitution has been sent to the McGill Senate and now awaits their approval, before coming into force.

Photography Competition

The Camera Club has announced the rules for the annual Photographic Competition Exhibition at the Macdonald-Royal. There is no entry fee. The competition is open to all students on campus and the Camera Club invites all interested persons to make an entry. Prints and slides will be handled with utmost care. Entries may be submitted to C. Van der Schans, Hut C19, or John van Abbeema, Brittain Hall. The deadline is 6:00 p.m., Wednesday, February 22. For rules see page 4.

I.S.O. Panel Discussion

The International Students Organization will resume its meetings on Sunday, February 5 at 1:30 p.m. in the Reception Room of Laird Hall. A panel of six Macdonald College students with Dr. R. A. MacLeod as moderator will discuss the topic "How students movements can contribute towards world peace." Everyone is invited to attend. Refreshments will be served.

The second most important organization on the Mac campus is to be dissolved. This is only a rumour, of course, but if the present trend continues,

Mike Elliott, the President of the Lit. and Deb. is seriously considering the move. He has been reported to have stated that the Literary and Debating Society is not serving the whole college population, because only a part of the student body is participating in the various activities sponsored by the Society.

Class plays have always been well attended on Wednesday evenings and the participation has been keen. However, with the start of the Debating season last week, there has been a sudden shift in population from the Assembly Hall. Some students have expressed a desire to rename the Lit. & Deb. the Dramatic Society, which would not only conduct interclass one act play competition, but would also be associated with the Green and Gold Revue, and would have on hand, when the time arrived, ready talent for the Yearly Musical Comedy.

Awards Presented

Prof. J.E.M. Young award the trophies for the Best Actress, Best Actor, and Best Play last Wednesday evening in the Assembly Hall after the first debating meet of the season.

The topic under discussion was that: "The West is Losing Ground to the East". Rupert James and Ian de LaRoche argued for the affirmative while, Colin Meir and Jim Darroch spoke for the negative. The affirmative maintained that since the Russian Revolution of 1917 the Eastern Political Block had shown tremendous strides in their political and economic development. The negative maintained that the progress, if any, itself was no scale on which to measure the gain or loss of the "Grounds" defined by the affirmative; the main point was not how or what the end was, but what the means were that were employed in gaining those grounds. A lively discussion followed from the floor, after the rebuttal. Rupert James wound up very well for the affirmative. The debate was chaired by the President of the Debating Society, M. Salim Khan.

Before giving out the awards, Prof. Young made a few comments on the class plays. He criticized the choice of plays, the coordination between the backstage and onstage crew (homework, he called it), and the projection of voice. The Best Actress Award went to Noel Tobiash who played the role of Mrs. White in the "Monkey's Paw"; the Best Actor Award went to Jim Darroch who played the role of Jasper Dean in "Five Minutes". It may interest readers to know that Jim also played another role in the same play. The Best Play Award was won by the Seniors for their production of "Utter Relaxation". The Senior class has thus won the award three times in their four years at Mac.

Mike Elliott, President of the Lit. & Deb., thanked Prof. Young and the other

A few eager students on campus are seriously considering the possibility of bringing Hyde Park to the Foyer every evening after supper, when more serious and mature discussions could take place as "Foyer Forum". Perhaps the Stewart Room could be better utilized than it is at the moment.

News Flash!

It was learned from usually reliable sources that the Youth Minister of the Quebec Government, Mr. Paul Gérin-Lajoie will make a statement shortly on reports that University students have had the second part of their Provincial Grants withheld because they own cars.

An equally reliable source earlier stated that it believed that car license plates had been checked at a University in Montreal.

EDITORIALS..... COMMENTS

The adoption of the amended Constitution of the Macdonald College Students Society is definitely an event of considerable significance in the history of the college community.

It has resulted in a major change, the dissociation of campus organizations from the Council and the election of four representative councillors; but it is also anticipated by many that the change may result in a different attitude on the part of the four main groups.

The expert organization by the Students' Council in establishing a committee to study the former constitution and recommend changes, and in arranging for voting to take place on January 31st is an excellent example of what can be accomplished through a cooperative effort.

Each member of the Faculties of Agriculture and Household Science, the Institute of Education and the Post Graduate Division can benefit from this example. Now each student must realize that, in establishing himself as an active member of an organized unit, the success of any college project or activity is ensured.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir,

From Coffee Shop sources, I have heard a most interesting tale. It appears that Waterloo University, in an effort to be original, set a record for BED-PUSHING! They, the students, managed to push said bed a distance of seventy miles. Nobody has stated whether the bed was occupied, nor stated the type of bed pushed — whether four poster, double, or single. However, the afore-mentioned bed has travelled seventy miles, pushed by energetic students.

Not to be out-done, an enterprising Mac student has suggested acquiring a bed from a residence and pushing it around the Oval, with EIGHTY miles as the objective. This would prove an interesting sport, do we have any volunteers? My sources tell me that Mr. Brian Purdon, of Brittain Hall is the man to see if interested in bed-pushing. The Oval is approximately one-eighth of a mile around — That is a long way to push a bed.

Dancing Nightly in Our Grill

An Invitation

Dear Falt-Ye Readers,

The Prom Committee would like to extend to everyone an invitation to the Winter Carnival Ball to be held on the eleventh of February, in conjunction with the Winter Carnival festivities.

The evening will commence at 7 P.M. with a formal dinner in the old dining hall. The menu is scrumptious so be there in plenty of time to enjoy it leisurely. From there we will all proceed to the new dining hall where we can dance to the music of Billy Walker's orchestra in an enchanting southern atmosphere.

At approximately 9 P.M. the big moment will have finally come. The moment we have been waiting apprehensively for. The crowning of our Queen. Make sure you are there to congratulate Our Leading Lady.

This semi-formal dance will be the best ever had here at Mac and the biggest dance ever to be held during Winter Carnival week in the history of the college.

Remember teachers this is the teacher's prom so I hope we will have every teacher out there to help the committee entertain our fellow students in Home Ec. and Agriculture.

Bring your friends from back home by all means. They'll be impressed with our college; that you can be sure of.

Hope to see everyone there for the greatest time ever.

Yours sincerely,

Marina Moshonas
(chairman)

Young Man", the author of that letter, exposes an objection to world disarmament that most reactionaries conceal from the public eye: his basic lack of faith in our way of life. He warns us that in a disarmed world, with dollars and roubles released from the arms race, the economies of the communist countries would boom, while that of America would collapse into a "large and extensive depression".

I do not agree with this Worried Young Man. I do not believe that our economy, like that of Hitler, can feed and grow fat only on wars and rumours of wars. I do not believe, as he appears to believe, that only communism can offer prosperity in a disarmed world. The industrial potential of the West is now four times greater than that of the Soviet Union. I believe that we can, and will, use this strength to eliminate hunger and illiteracy in Asia, Africa, and Latin America — and I believe that in doing so we will experience a moral and economic rebirth that will lift us above our tailfins and our cosmetics and our picture windows to a moral level from which we will be able to see the future elimination of tyranny, ignorance and starvation on the world we now call "free" without being consumed by an abject fear.

If Worried Young Man really does believe that the West cannot prosper in a world of peace under our present system he should ask himself, calmly and seriously, whether or not he should join the Communist Party. He exhorts us to: "Think, O think, ye moral disarmers, nuclear disarmers, and anti H bomb, anti A bomb campaigners — our future is long not short."

I would like to remind him that this is the fervent hope of the nuclear disarmers, and that if his sort of defeatism should win in the West he has very good cause to be worried — for his future will be short, not long.

On Campus

by Harry Needham,

Congrats to everyone who worked to give us a new constitution. This includes, not only our hard-pressed Students Council, but also the Gold Key people who had an unglorified job of handing out ballots and tabulating results. And a special hand to the people who showed their college spirit by coming out and exercising their right. Dale told me that some 53% had done so. This is some improvement from last year, when the voting booth had to be kept open for a second day just to secure a quorum. To the people that did not vote, we say "You're nothing but DEAD WEIGHT!" If you haven't got the spirit even to make an "X", this college has no need of you. And the people that did not vote are the same ones that don't do anything else around the college; the same group that think of the college of a place where one is held in bondage from 8:30 to 3:30 and who wouldn't dream of soiling their fingers with extra-curricular work. Oh, no, it's below them. Phooey!

And now for that item that didn't get in last week re the Variety Show. The noise made by a group of juvenile imbeciles is not confined to activities such as this. We see it every where; in assemblies, in student meetings, and especially in classes. It's the same immature few that don't have the sense to keep their little mouths closed at the proper time. Perhaps I might say that I am relieved that the Institute of Education is not the only group that is troubled with this irksome problem. Oh, no. It's a very great pity that something which started off as the pastime of a few characters of decidedly limited intelligence, has polluted the entire college. Empty vessels DO make the most noise.

The next bit deals with the people who consistently block corridors and passageways in the main building and around the campus. Tuesday morning, Prof. Munroe himself had to lend a hand in clearing the stairways. The people who are at fault are not from any one class or faculty but the tendency seems strongest among the transient classes.

A word about the new machines in the basement of the main building. It's a terrific idea to have them but why can't we have machines that supply the proper change (Indeed, any change at all) and the proper product. I have tried every one and there is something wrong with each. A number of other people have also had this trouble. Since the machines seem to be here to stay, is it too much to ask that they give you value for money?

FACTS OF THE WEEK:

• 39 students have left the college since the start of the academic year.

• The Russian army hands out a decoration entitled "In Memory of 800 Years of Moscow". It was established in 1947, and is granted to just about anyone, provided they have lived in Moscow for five years. Here's another spot where Americans and Russians are alike; they both seem to enjoy passing out bits of bronze and gaudy ribbons for just about anything. This one bears the head of Yuri Dolgoruki, who founded Moscow in 1147.

Royal Entries

All animals have to be ready by February 23. The classes consist of four to six animals chosen from the herd, and are more or less alike in size and quality. They are judged on fitness and the showmanship of the showmen. The people in each class are competing against each other for points. First prize is four points, second is three points, third is two points, and a merit is one point.

Come on teachers, let's see some showmanship!

Former trophies for the Macdonald Royal can be seen in the Trophy cabinet in the Main Building.

TEACHING MACHINE

On Thursday, January 26th, Professors Edwards and Wisenthal presented new and perhaps startling ideas concerning progress in education. Scrambled text books were undoubtedly the most fascinating of the items discussed and may be obtained for nearly every subject on the curriculum including arithmetic, algebra and literature.

Today, there are different machines available which may assist in educational programs. One of the machines demonstrated was for mathematics, but others may be purchased for various subjects and various prices — from $19 to $3,000.

These machines were developed because psychologists have proved that the individual learns most effectively when he is awarded immediately and one method of reward is the student's knowledge of success. In situations where the student must wait several hours, even days or weeks, to receive his results, he has no desire to correct his errors and, thus, an opportunity for learning has been neglected. With the accurate management of the machine, the pupil learn more work more thoroughly in less time. In one instance, students in two separate classes, one using the machine for algebra, the other being taught in the traditional manner, were given exams at the termination of their course. It was found that the "machine taught" class was as successful as the "teacher taught" class. This appears to be an indication of the possibilities of machines in schools.

The advantages of teaching machines are numerous. To begin with, each child may work according to his capabilities. Problems of behavior may be lessened because the pupils possess more interest. Most significant, the prospect of examinations could be abolished as when a child has finished one program, he has learned the subject as illustrated by experiments with actual classes.

The teacher would not be replaced, but complemented. His role would be to decide when the pupil had completed the program and was prepared to proceed to the next. He would arrange the programs according to the pupil's abilities and success and, most important, he would have the time he desperately requires to instill in his pupils the aesthetic values of poetry, music art as well as ethics and the moral attributes essential for successful and peaceful living which is, after all, the aim of education.

Times have changed

How to Kiss a Lady (from Fun, Magic and Mystery; Royal Publishing Company, 1951).

The gentleman must be taller than the lady he intends to kiss. Take her right hand in yours and draw her gently to you; pass your left hand over her right shoulder, diagonally down across her back, under her left arm; press her to your bosom, and at the same time she will throw her head back, and you have nothing else to do but to lean a little forward and press your lips to hers, and then the thing is done.

Don't make a noise over it, as if you were firing of shooting crackers, nor pounce upon it like a hungry hawk upon an innocent dove; but gently fold the damsel in your arms without smashing her standing collar or spoil her curls, and by a sweet pressure upon her mouth revel in the blissfulness of your situation, without smacking your lips on it, as you would over a glass of beer.

N.B. — Ladies should see that these rules are strictly observed.

I wonder if anyone might agree with me if I said that marriage as an institution could at least in one respect be considered against a Christian principle, namely, the virtue of truthfulness. If you take into consideration the married men and women who live together, all attraction for each other long forgotten, you certainly must agree that they are being hypocritical in presenting this false picture of marital bliss to the rest of society. Therefore, they are not obeying the Christian idea of truth, although if asked they would probably declare themselves as followers of the Christian way of life. A solution to the problem might be to do away with marriage altogether and let people live a quiet life between themselves without having to go through all the red tape to obtain a divorce if they decide they no longer have a passion for each other. Surely this would not be considered immoral if the couple believed that they were in love when they decided to live together, for love is also idealized by Christianity.

MAC DOWNS' MCGILL, 75 - 52

Nudge Bishop's 48 - 46

Sidelights

The Macdonald basketball team, lead by Art Gauley who netted 25 points, scored a resounding victory over McGill Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity last night in the Women's Gym. Last Friday night, they scored their second win in the last three starts by narrowly edging Bishop's Galtors, 48-46.

Last night, the Aggies held the edge from the opening whistle and rested out the half-time interval on a 42-24 cushion. They continued superior efforts throughout the final half to come out on the long end of the 75-52 count. Along with Gauley, Ross, Armstrong and Erland Pepper turned in noteworthy efforts; in fact, the entire team turned in a commendable showing that resulted in the proud score at the game's end.

With few minutes left in last Friday night's contest, a fowl called against one of the Bishop's players turned the tide. Trailing by a single point, Gauley's fowl shot tied the score as time was running out. Then, with just seconds remaining, Jerry Kelly netted the winning marker and tight defensive play protected the margin for the remaining time.

Last Saturday afternoon, the Aggie cagers encountered the cadets from C.M.R. in the Women's Gym. At few points only did the Mac men display as superb teamwork as against McGill or Bishop's, but, nevertheless, remained in the game as dangerous contenders. CMR moved into a 34-23 lead at half-time; in the second half, as both teams increased speed, the Aggies made a strong bid and eventually evened the score. Then, several fowls were called against a number of our sharpshooters and the Mac offensive drive suffered under restricted conditions, were unable to keep pace and CMR forged ahead to gain the 53-46 win.

INTRAMURAL WOODSMAN'S COMPETITION

At 1 p.m. on Saturday, January 28, the Intramural Woodsman's Competition took place on the Lower Campus of our fair Institute. There were few spectators due to the lack of publicity rather than to the basketball game which commenced at 2 p.m.

The whole event was very well organized with particular emphasis on safety, and each individual event ran smoothly. Keen competition between the Seniors and the Dips was very much in evidence as the results will show. The results are as follows:

Seniors	610 points
Dips	606 "
Juniors	482 "
Phys. Ed. II	364 "
Sophs	355 "
Frosh I	320 "
Teachers II	306 "
Frosh II	245 "

POST GRADS & INT. TEACHERS EDITION NEXT WEEK

Our hockey team played a game "abroad" at Kingston this week. Unfortunately, this being quite a distance it was unattended by Mac fans. I use this term "fans" loosely for I search in vain to find such a creature on this campus. What we find at our games are spectators who will cheer for any team and feel deep down inside that the game is lost before it is even begun.

It is an unfortunate fact that we have not won many games but winning is not the most important thing associated with a sport. At Mac we have a team of athletes who give up their time, to practice and become good hockey players, and they need our support. Next game, do keep your eyes on our hard-working team and notice their many attributes. You might even develop a better enjoyment of "the sport or diversion" and become a real "fan". Come on now, appreciate what we have!

By the way Kingston defeated us 9-3, so now our team needs moral support more than ever.

Tractor Rodeo to be Featured at the Royal

It has been announced that the Tractor Rodeo, which has been a part of previous college Royals will be featured again this year. Bob Watson is in charge of this event. The competition, which tests the skills of the operators in handling tractors and observing safety rules, is open to all undergraduate classes in the three Faculties at Macdonald College. Each class, it is believed, will send one rep. to this event, which is to take place on two inches of hard ice at the Glenfinnan skating rink.

The annual Agronomy and Poultry Judging competition is scheduled for Feb. 18, and will take place in the Agriculture Building from 1.30 to 3.30 p.m. This competition is open to all students in the college. We believe further details can be had from Dave Guttman and Joe Ruet.

4. The exhibitor must have his name printed clearly on each slide frame.

SPOTLIGHTING Women's Sports

by Joan CHALONER

Intercollegiate Basketball:

Last Saturday, the intercollegiate basketball team went with high hopes to Carleton University, in Ottawa, to meet the Carleton players. Our girls had an extra 1½ hours practice before the game because their opponents were late. The team might have done a better showing if they had not been so tired. As it was, they lost 80-39. The third quarter proved to be the best for us with Eva Terrauds excellent shooting and Gwen Lord's setting up plays. There were two casualties.

Intercollegiate Volleyball:

The game, last Saturday, which was held at Carleton, was a round-robin tournament with McGill, Carleton and Macdonald. In our game with McGill, we lost by a close margin of two points. However, we won the first two games against Carleton, 15-6 and 13-8. Outstanding servers of the games were Sue Macdonald, Vizma Tiltins and Sally Schaffeler.

The ball was set up very well, but the spiking lacked fire.

The final standings for the tournament were:

- First — McGill;
- Second — Macdonald;
- Third — Carleton.

Intercollegiate Hockey:

The girls' hockey team made its debut at 11 o'clock, Saturday morning, on McGill ice. The players were:

Forwards — Karen McCartney, Trinkie Hooker, P. J. Clements, Diane Farley, Linda Kavanagh, Margot Dayton; Defence — Ann Wilson, Doreen Righthall, Isobel MacKay, Sharon Schofield, Linda Ross, Anne Anderson.

Saturday, we only managed a 4-4 tie, and we found that one of our main weaknesses was defence. Trinkie Hooker and Karen McCartney played very well. Our goal getters were: Karen McCartney, with 3 goals for the "hat trick," and Linda Kavanagh tallied for another goal.

Today, the team is travelling up to Kingston to challenge Queens' girls. We will also have Sue Porter and Jane Rodgers who were unable to play last Saturday. Let's hope we can do better than a tie!

Interclass Hockey

Hockey will be starting on Feb. 6th and will last for three weeks. There will be class practices to-day and Monday for those who need to polish their hockey skills. Watch the notice board for further information about these games.

Interclass Archery

The archery competition will be held in the near future. It is necessary to attend the beginner's classes if you wish to enter the tournament.
